

Cyberbullying

Randall's ESL Cyber Listening Lab, Difficult, 1min57s

<https://www.esl-lab.com/difficult/cyberbullying/>1. The man and the woman are meeting at school.☒ True ☐ FalseJustification: Hi. Welcome to Parent-Teacher Conference.2. Megan is a student in ...☐ high school. ☒ junior high school. ☐ elementary school.3. Megan missed class because she was ill.☐ True ☒ FalseJustification: She missed school because she was being bullied by other students.4. According to the teacher, what does Megan need to do to make things better?☐ Study quietly. ☐ Pay attention. ☒ Express herself.Justification: The teacher believes she needs to speak up more in class.5. Some of the students have been...☐ stealing her books. ☐ ignoring her at lunch. ☒ making fun of her looks.Justification: The students have been teasing her about her appearance.6. What did some kids do on Facebook that hurt Megan's feelings?☐ They deleted her as a friend.
☒ They wrote some awful messages.
☐ They didn't invite her to a birthday party.Justification: A student took a picture of her and posted it online with nasty comments.7. What is Megan's mother planning on doing to resolve the problem?☐ Contacting the local police.
☒ Meeting with the school principal.
☐ Discussing the issue with a lawyer.8. The teacher wants to...☐ apologize to Megan by email.
☐ read books on suicide prevention.
☒ talk to Megan the next day at school.

Cyberbullying

Randall's ESL Cyber Listening Lab, Difficult, 1min57s

<https://www.esl-lab.com/difficult/cyberbullying/>

Teacher: Hi. Welcome to Parent-Teacher Conference.

Parent: Thanks.

Teacher: So, what is your child's name?

Parent: It's Megan Jones.

Teacher: Megan. Uh, let's see. Oh yeah, Megan. Um, she missed the last couple of days. Has she been sick?

Parent: No, she's been having some problems with the other kids in your class, and . . .

Teacher: Well, you know, junior high school is a difficult time, but she just needs to speak up a little more in class. I think...

Parent: No, it's... it's more than that. Some of the kids in your class have really been bullying her a lot.

Teacher: What do you mean?

Parent: Well, um, they've been teasing her a lot about her appearance, and then, the other day, you didn't help things [What?] Yeah, she said you made a comment about her clothes.

Teacher: What do you mean? I mean ...

Parent: She said you commented on her shirt and jeans, like they were from the 1970s or something like that.

Teacher: Well, I was just kind of joking a little bit with her.

Parent: Well, yeah, that's what you think, but other kids follow your example. In fact, one of the kids took a picture of her with their phone and posted it and had some real nasty comments on Facebook. It was terrible.

Teacher: Well, you know, kids can be kids.

Parent: No, don't you get it? This is bullying; it's cyberbullying, and adults like you are part of the problem. Forget it. I'm planning on discussing this with the principal tomorrow.

Teacher: Oh, wait, wait, wait. Um, uh, oh. I'm sorry if I hurt her feelings [Yeah. You did!], but...

Parent: I get sick and tired of people thinking that a little teasing is okay. Too many kids are killing themselves because they feel that there's just no way to escape this.

Teacher: Okay. Well, I guess I need to be a little bit more careful, but . . .

Parent: Yeah, you do. I really hope I can get Megan to come to school tomorrow. She's been really, really anxious and depressed [Wow.] for some time, and your comments and those that the other kids made haven't helped.

Teacher: Wow. Uh, I'm really sorry. Could you see if you can bring her to school tomorrow? Uh, I'd like to apologize and see what I can do to, maybe, improve the situation.

Parent: Thanks. I'd appreciate it. That would help.